

and I buy peanuts for the crows. They snub my offerings, but it's like we always say:

Gentle, gentle. I've lost count of all the things we try to hold in a lifetime.